EDUCATION

Ph.D. in Philosophy, Cornell University, 2015

Dissertation: Qualitativism: An Elucidation and Defense

Committee: Theodore Sider (chair), Karen Bennett, Derk Pereboom

Abstract: According to qualitativism, the facts constituting the world are, fundamentally, qualitative or general. I clarify and defend qualitativism, and in the process explore its connections with other metaphysical topics, such as individuation, qualitative indiscernibility, the nature of metaphysical determination, and the nature of time.

M.Phil. in Philosophical Theology, University of Oxford, 2010

M.A. in Philosophy, Western Michigan University, 2008

M.A. in Theological Studies, Westminster Seminary California, 2006

B.A. in Philosophy, Greenville University, 2004
