

Adam Wingårdh

Curriculum Vitae

Department of Philosophy, Logic and Scientific Method, LSE,
Houghton St, London WC2A 2AE
a.j.wingardh@lse.ac.uk

Education

PhD Philosophy, the London School of Economics (LSE), 2022-2026.

Supervisors: Richard Bradley and Anna Mahtani.

PGCE Secondary Mathematics, Bath Spa University, 2021-2022.

MSc Philosophy and Public Policy, LSE, 2020-2021.

BA Philosophy, Politics, and Economics, Durham University, 2016-2019.

Visiting Positions

Visiting Researcher, Australian National University (ANU), 2025.

Sponsor: Alan Hájek.

Areas of Specialisation

Philosophy of Language, Conditionals, Metaphilosophy, and Moral Philosophy.

Areas of Competence

Epistemology, Metaphysics, Decision Theory, and Political & Social Philosophy.

Awards

The Popper Memorial Prize for ‘the Real Problem with Counterfactual Accounts of Harm,’ for ‘distinguished achievement’ in philosophy, LSE, 2024/25.

Class Teacher Award, LSE, 2024/25.

Highly Commended Teaching Award, LSE, 2023/24.

Highly Commended Teaching Award, LSE, 2022/23.

PhD Studentship, LSE, 2022-2026.

Beatrice-Webb Prize, for 'best performance on the MSc', LSE, 2020/21.

Papers

'The Real Problem with Counterfactual Accounts of Harm', Synthese (2026).

'Many Conditionals Are Ambiguous' (In Review).

'Why Many Conditionals Are Ambiguous' (In Progress).

'What Counterfactuals Can't Deliver' (In Progress).

Presentations

'Why Many Conditionals are Ambiguous'

The Swedish Congress of Philosophy, Stockholm University, June 2026

The Joint Session, the University of Reading, July 2026

'What Counterfactuals Can't Deliver'

The Choice Group, LSE, May 2026.

'Many Conditionals are Ambiguous'

Counterfactuals Workshop, ANU, July 2025.

Australasian Association of Philosophy's Conference, the University of Queensland, July 2025.

Philosophy Society, ANU, June 2025.

The Choice Group, LSE, May 2025.

'Rethinking Moral Luck'

Kioloa Philosophy Conference, ANU, June 2025

'The Real Problem with Counterfactual Accounts of Harm'

British Postgraduate Philosophy Conference (BPPC), the University of Manchester, October 2024.

Political, Legal, and Moral Philosophy Research Group (POLEMO) Symposium,
the Central European University, May 2024

The Choice Group, LSE, December 2023

Courses Taught

Philosophy of Society, LSE, 2025/26.

Philosophy of Language, LSE, 2025. (Lectured).

Epistemology, LSE, 2024/25. (Lectured).

Philosophy & Public Policy, LSE, 2023/24.

The Big Questions, LSE, 2022/23.

Organising

The Ethics Cup, London, 2024-26.

The Choice Group seminars, LSE, 2023-26

The PhD work-in-progress seminars, LSE, 2023-25

References

Richard Bradley, LSE, R.Bradley@lse.ac.uk.

Anna Mahtani, LSE, A.Mahtani@lse.ac.uk.

Xinhe Wu, LSE, X.Wu67@lse.ac.uk.