

Long Nguyen

Department of Philosophy
1009 Cathedral of Learning
Pittsburgh, PA 15260

Personal Website
thn48@pitt.edu

Areas of Interest

Epistemology, Philosophy of Mind, Action Theory, History of Analytic Philosophy

Education

University of Pittsburgh PhD, Philosophy	starting August 2023
Hillsdale College BA, Philosophy & Mathematics, minor in Classics summa cum laude, Departmental Honors in Philosophy	August 2019 – May 2023

Publications

“Empirical Challenges to the Evidential Problem of Evil” (with Blake McAllister, Ian Church, and Paul Rezkalla). In Oxford Studies of Experimental Philosophy. forthcoming

“Language and Common Sense in Berkeley’s Philosophy.” Prometheus Undergraduate Philosophy Journal 14: 8-12. 2022

Presentations

“Language and Common Sense in Berkeley’s Philosophy” Mid-Atlantic Undergraduate Philosophy Conference, Johns Hopkins University	April 2022
Annual GVSU & Calvin University Philosophy Conference, Calvin University	April 2022
Mid-Hudson Valley Undergraduate Philosophy Conference, Marist College	April 2022
Undergraduate Conference in Philosophy, Eastern Michigan University	March 2022

Teaching Experience

Hillsdale College Mathematics Departmental Tutor	2022-23
Teaching Assistant for MTH 405: Complex Analysis	Fall 2022
Teaching Assistant and Grader for MTH 303: Mathematical Logic	Spring 2022

Selected Awards & Honors

Departmental Honors in Philosophy, Hillsdale College Thesis: “Telling, Communication, and Evidence” Committee: Blake McAllister (advisor), Ian Church, and Thomas Burke	2023
---	------

Other Skills

Programming Languages: R, MATLAB, L^AT_EX

Languages: Vietnamese (native), English (professional), Latin (intermediate), Ancient Greek (intermediate), Russian (basic), French (basic)