Bio:

I am a political philosopher interested in climate justice, cultural conflicts, and politics of recognition, mainly inspired by Political Liberalism. Currently, I am a Post-doctoral Researcher at the Department of Political and Social Sciences at the University of Catania under the PRIN 2022 Project, “The Paradigm Shift in the Modern Understanding of Freedom”, coordinated at the Unict by Prof. Luigi Caranti. My take on the project regards the prospects of Immanuel Kant’s practical philosophy in the pressing problem of antropogenic climate change today, with a particular look at climate conflicts in liberal democratic societies.

Previously, I was a Post-Doctoral Researcher at the Institute of Law, Politics, and Development (DIRPOLIS) at the Sant’Anna School of Advanced Studies. Research Area: Ethics and Global Challenges. At the Sant’Anna School of Advanced Studies, I participated in the Italian ‘PRO3 Project: Theories and Toolkit for the Ecological Transition: Philosophical, Mathematical, Ethical and Legal Profiles of the Carbon Budget Sustainability Challenge’ (Grant Number: PROGMIURC21_23AP), coordinated by Prof. Alberto Pirni. The Project was an interdisciplinary research realized in partnership with the Scuola Normale Superiore and IUSS Pavia and financed by the Italian “Ministero dell’Istruzione e del Merito” (MIUR). My role on the PRO3 Project was to investigate the intergenerational implications regarding a just distribution of the remaining Global Carbon Budget from a normative-philosophical perspective.

Besides this, I have been actively engaged in recent international and multidisciplinary projects such as the Program ‘EELISA – European University’ at Sant’Anna School, a research partnership between Sant’Anna, Scuola Normale, the Institut Jean Nicod (PSL-ENS), and the Budapest University of Technology and Economics. At Sant’Anna School, Dr. Piroli has also participated as a virtual delegate during the United Nations Climate Change Conference 28 (COP28).

I also actively participated in Marie-Curie Rise Project’s ‘Kant in South America’ (KANTINSA), coordinated by Prof. Luigi Caranti, which covered the partnership from four Universities in South American and four from Europe .

Additionally, at the University of Santa Catarina, I always has been strongly engaged in the organization in local and international conferences, such as the Humboldt-Kolleg on Human Rights (2018) and 8th International Symposium on Justice (2018).

From 1st January 2025, I will be part of the Marie-Curie Staff Exchange Project “JUSTLA – Justice in the XXI Century: A Perspective from Latin America” with a consortium of 18 universities and a network of 150 researchers. Information and updates about the project can be found on its official website.
